Foreword

To portray something of the spirit of the State Teachers College at Jacksonville, to trace the progress from normal school to teachers college, and to record accurately and effectively some of the events of the past year, the Teacoala of 1931 comes from the press. To all who cherish memories of the college it claims for itself only the merit of good intentions

Dedication

To C. W. Daugette, our President, whose keen vision, undaunted courage, and hard work have made 1930-31 the most illustrious year in the history of the State Teachers College at Jacksonville, we dedicate with loyalty and real affection this the sixth volume of the Teacoala.

Greetings from the President

This session constitutes an important epoch in the development of this institution. It completes its transition from a two-year State Normal School to a four-year Teachers College. The first degrees will be conferred on May 27, 1931.

My thanks and appreciation are freely extended to that class which has earned for itself the title of pioneer by being the first to complete the entire four-year course. In being first in this respect this class has endeavored in a most commendable way to set an example of patriotism and co-operation in all school activities which may well be emulated by all classes which follow. Hearty congratulations to its members one and all! Your Alma Mater will not forget you.

To all the other students who share my confidence and love most abundantly, please allow me to thank you also for your loyalty and good behavior during this year. Conditions are better for you than ever before and will be improved as time passes.

Your fine spirit assures me that the high personnel of the student body and their high ideals will suffer no setback.

Most sincerely yours,

C. W. DAUGETTE,
President.

History of State Teachers College at Jacksonville

By an act of the Legislature in 1883 The State Normal School was established at Jacksonville. Two of Jacksonville's public spirited citizens, L. W. Grant in the Senate and J. D. Hammond in the House, were instrumental in getting the school located here. The building and grounds of the old Calhoun College which cost $16,000.00 were given the state by the Board of Trustees to be used for the Normal School. Calhoun College was built by the issuance of stock held by the people in Jacksonville and as far south as Selma. James G. Ryalls of Macon, Georgia, was the first president. He died during his second year and J. Harris Chappel succeeded him. He was president for almost three years. He resigned to take the presidency of the Girls' Industrial School at Milledgeville, Georgia.

Then came G. B. Gibson of Columbus, Georgia, who was president seven years. Next came J. B. Jarrett who was here one year. In 1892, Jacob Forney became president and was here seven years. During the last years of his administration the school began to grow. He rented the old Iron Queen Hotel to use as a dormitory. He resigned in 1899 to become the head of the newly created Department of Education at the University of Alabama.

Since 1889 Dr. C. W. Doughter the present incumbent, of Monroeville, Alabama, has been at the helm.

The Normal's home for sixteen years was the old Calhoun College. The school grew to such an extent that another home was necessary. The court house had been moved to Anniston and the county gave the old court house to the Normal School. The school continued to grow and another home had to be provided. Dr. Doughter, Mr. C. D. Martin and Mr. J. J. Arnold were instrumental in getting an appropriation for remodeling the old Calhoun College which is the building just vacated by the college.

The school continued to grow by leaps and bounds. In 1916 a beautiful dormitory was built for girls. Just as it was ready for occupancy it burned. The next year it was rebuilt. In 1921-22 a modern Training School was built. It is known as Kilby Hall. In 1927 a beautiful fire-proof dormitory for boys was built. This took the place of the wooden barracks built by the government during the World War to house a unit of the S. A. T. C. This dormitory was built without any state appropriation.

Through the generosity and philanthropy of Mrs. Fannie Atkins of Jacksonville, with the desire to perpetuate the name of her husband, a farm of 123½ acres was donated for the purpose of helping young men get an education. It is for the benefit of those needing assistance.

The Glee Club at the Big Spring

The other property that the school owns consists of the 28 acre site of the old administration building, two acres in the city school site, 10 faculty homes and 80 acres in the new site, making a total of 110 acres in the city and 123½ outside.

The number of boarding students in 1900 was eight, in 1922 it was 811 and the total enrollment in 1929-30 was 2648 including all departments of the school.

In 1929 the Normal School passed out of existence and the four-year State Teachers College took its place as a member of the Association of Alabama Colleges and the American Association of Teachers Colleges and has made application for admission to the Southern Association of Colleges.

In 1883 there were five teachers. In 1930-31 there were 51.

From all parts of our state has come the demand for better teachers. In order to meet the demand made on them, the teachers are constantly seeking to equip themselves better for their task. Since no other college in the state offers better advantages than does Jacksonville, students flocked here last year from 46 counties of Alabama and from five states.

The buildings were not adequate for the increase. The state appropriated $300,000.00 for new buildings. Dr. Daugette bought the Burke property which is located on one of Jacksonville's many beautiful hills, and 40 acres additional. There today stands one of the most magnificent school buildings on one of the loveliest locations in the state. This cost over a quarter of a million dollars and is known as Bibb Graves Hall. There has also been built and furnished one unit of the dormitory to be occupied by girls. This dormitory is modern in every respect and will accommodate 60 girls. Its cost is $75,000.00 and it is named C. W. Doughtette Hall.

A central heating plant has been erected to heat all the buildings now on the campus as well as those of the future. This is the first year for the completion of the four-year course and degrees will be awarded the first class in May, 1931.

The past is honorable, the present is great and the glory of the future is ours.

TIME: 1928-1931

PRELUDE

The entire play has one setting which is the campus of the State Teachers College. Foot-hills of the Blue Ridge are seen in the background. For the third act the space is doubled and two buildings, not seen before, become centers of college activity. Dr. C. W. Daugette, President of State Teachers College, acts as stage director and has everything ready when the curtain rises for each act.

Thirteen of the characters received Normal Diplomas and all fifteen passed the first mile stone toward success.

ACT I. CHARACTERS—SOPHOMORES

Eugenia Adderhold, Lois Beck, Mrs. C. E. Bondurant, Ruth Burnham, Leamon Camp, Odis Davis, Martha Godwin, Clatis Green, Alvis Hamric, Bonard Hamric, Taft Porter, Jack Sewell, Ollie Sewell, Cecil Weaver, Mrs. Leila York.

ACT II. CHARACTERS—JUNIORS

Mrs. A. E. Boyd, N. W. Landers, Lucy Evelyn McGraw, L. G. McPherson, Opal Powell, Susie Sargent, Mrs. Reuben Self, Marvin Clinton Thomason, Postelle Watts, Ethel Yates.

Ten new characters come upon the stage. Seven are former students, among whom are five normal graduates. Three appear at Jacksonville for the first time.

ACT III—SENIORS

Fred Burnham, Irvin Holleman, Carl G. Smith, B. Gideon Smith, Clarence Vines, Alice Williams, Mrs. Opal Miller Worthy.

Seven new characters are added. Five are former students and two appear on the campus for the first time. Ollie Sewell, the first person to receive a degree from the college leaves the stage at the first third of the act. Mrs. A. E. Boyd gets her degree in the middle of the act.

EPILOGUE

We, the Seniors of State Teachers College, start our journeys forward to serve in the schools of Alabama, leaving behind us the campus scenes, but taking in our lives the essence of what happened at Jacksonville.

OLLIE SEWELL. and ETHEL YATES.

The Senior Class of '31

Grown weary of singing the same old song,
That countless have sung every May,
The muses are changing the words of the song,
To fit this class of today.

Annals are taking the names of the throng,
That finish their courses in May.
Some lawyers, some doctors and business men
Are taking diplomas away.

Whole classes are making their bids for fame
By dauntless endurance supreme.
They hope to follow some noble work
That'll bring them honor and gain.

This class is waiting with pleasure and pride
The days of all days to them,
Permission to lead, permission to guide
Our young 'till they come to be men.

No other school in this whole state
Sends forth a class like this.
No other class before this date
Went forth to work like this.

To teach, to train, to lay foundations.
So strong for future needs,
That none may lack an education,
Where one from this class leads.

Thus we aspire, with all our power,
This class of '31
To work, nor cease from this our dower
'Till all this work be done.

CARL SMITH.

Ballad of A Stolen Ride

The young man came riding, came riding
Adown the long highway,
The young mayde came walking, came walking
Adown the self same way.

The cold grey light of the setting sun
Cast a hue o'er that lonely spot,
The gallant youth was quite enthralled,
Who says the mayde was not?

"Wilt ride with me, my ladye fair?"
"O, sir! That cannot be!"
"That breaks my heart," the young man said.
"Then I will go," quoth she.

Into the car right gallantly
The young man helped the mayde,
"Where shall we go, my ladye faire?"
Right courteously he said.

The mayde now glanced about her
With frightened air and mien.
"To any place, kind sir," quoth she,
"Where College girls aren't seen."

But verily, a chaperon,
With bright eyes sharp had seen
That mayde a riding with a man
All on that cool fall e'en.

"O, pack thy trunk, thou naughty lass,
For home let out with speed,
Thou shalt no more outrage us here
By such disgraceful deed."

Bitter tears did tremble in her ee
And others on her cheek,
"O, fare ye well, my own school mates, Another place I'll seek."

"A question now follows my name,
I rode with a man alone,
But alas! the worst is I forgot
To look for a chaperon!"

FRESHMAN CLASS ROLL

The Freshman Class

Once in the good old college town
Where wise professors in caps and gown
Taught high school graduates how to teach
And the hearts of little children reach,
There came one day a certain class,
Hoping they'd learn enough to pass,
Trying so hard to understand
Upper classmen who looked so grand.

This Freshman class did try its best
To look and act just like the rest.
They tried to overcome that look
Of dumbness; and they undertook
To startle all their fellow students,
By their carefulness and prudence.
They'd show the school that this one time
The Freshman class would surely shine.

They planned it all in great detail,
And felt that they could never fail
The higher students to impress.
(But that is where they missed their guess)
For when they tried it out one day,
They heard a Senior turn and say:
"This bunch of Freshmen we have here
Are surely acting mighty queer."

Thus all their fondest hopes were killed;
Their minds with bitter thoughts were filled;
Their courage fled with out-spread wings;
Their hearts were crushed with hateful things.
No matter what they said or did
It seemed that their true worth was hid,
For no one ever thought he'd find
A Freshman with a brilliant mind.

J. W. STEPHENSON

Coach

Hats off to Coach Steve the capable commander-in-chief of the Eagle Owls! Despite the many difficulties encountered, along with the strongest schedule in the history of the school, Steve led the team through a successful season.

CLARENCE VINES

Assistant Coach

"Coachy," a graduate of the Normal School in 1926, came back this year as a valuable assistant to Coach Stephenson. He proved himself a persistent worker and a friend to the boys.

On a whole the football season of the State Teachers College Eagle Owls was a success. September 1 found Coaches Stephenson and Vines welcoming Eagle Owls from all parts of the State. By September 20, this flock of Owls had grown so fierce and bloodthirsty that Coach Steve decided to feed them on some Tiger meat. Sewanee was reported to have a fat one so away they went to the lair of the Tiger. This meat proved to be too tough and the Owls received their first setback 25-0. Although the Owls were defeated, they were not whipped. It was a much harder fought battle than the score indicates. Sewanee is a Southern Conference member, but she had her hands full September 20, trying to keep those Owls away from their goal line.

On October 3, "Eddie" McLane brought a pack of Howard Bulldogs to Johnson Field in Anniston to let them fight it out with the Teachers College Owls. Not until after one of the hardest fought games in the history of either school did the Owls decide that "dogmeat" was also a little bit tough. When the field was cleared the score stood Bulldogs 20, Owls 0. The Owls showed a great defensive line in this game, at one time holding the Bulldogs on the six inch line. The fighting spirit of the Owls was upheld by 100% support of the students.

On October 11, the Owls journeyed to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, for a scrap with the Middle Tennessee Teachers. This was the first game the Owls really should have won. However, they were still a bit crippled from the Howard game, and the Teachers were a stubborn bunch of hard fighters, supported wonderfully by a wide awake student body. This game was probably the Owls' weakest effort.

Next on October 18, we find the Owls in Bowdon, Georgia, for a scrap with "Bud" Harris' Bulldogs. This was one of those hard fought affairs, with the ball continually going up and down the field, neither team getting on the business side of the goal line. Both teams threatened to score but always lacked the final punch to put it over. It was in this game that the Owls showed their first signs of offensive strength.

October 25, the Owls attacked the Piedmont College Tigers in their own backyard at Demorest, Georgia. Here the Owls drew their first blood of the season. The Tigers ran over, under, around, and through the Owls in the first half for two touchdowns. After an address by Coach Steve at the half the Owls seemed suddenly to come to life and finally scored a touchdown in the last quarter. The score was 13-7.

November 1, the first home game of the season was played against our old rivals, the Cadets from Marion. The Owls remembered that they could score now and took advantage of a light inexperienced team of Cadets and piled up a 26-0 score in the first half. Substitutes swarmed the field in the second session and the score stood. The Cadets put up a hard fight but were too much outweighed to threaten seriously the Owls' goal line.

November 8, the Middle Georgia Teachers invaded the Gem of the Hills with a real football team. Teachers are supposed to teach, and from all outward appearance, these Teachers came to give the Owls some instruction in the art of carrying the pigskin. Evidently they forgot that the Owls were all the while growing older and wiser and would not be subdued now so easily as in early season. The Owls showed real strength in winning this game 25-6.

The Teachers from Georgia sported a set of fast, elusive backs and a rugged, hard charging line. This game was a real fight from whistle to whistle.

A better climax could not be found for a football season than the 26-13 victory the Owls won over the Tennessee Wesleyan Bulldogs on November 22. This final stand was a credit to both coaches and players. The team played almost as one man. The Bulldogs had a strong team with a wonderful record behind it but the unerring selection of perfectly timed plays, coupled with fierce blocking, swift elusive running, and brilliant passing by the Owls was too much for them.

Y. W. C. A.

The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to help girls to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and to make this life possible for all people. In doing this we seek to understand Jesus and follow him.

It is an organization for the purpose of developing and encouraging religious thought on the campus. It makes for the good life. By this it does not mean to confine itself to religious activities entirely but to make the modern young woman an example of all the ideals and aspirations that have been given to her by her Lord.

The Y. W. C. A. seeks to draw the girls closer together thereby building up friendships which will make the years in college smoother, sweeter and dearer to all the participants.

Last fall the Y. W. C. A. drew up a constitution and is now a member of the Y. W. C. A. of the U. S. A. and a participant in the world Student Christian Federation.

The programs are interesting and instructive. They are planned with the idea of developing the mental, spiritual and aesthetic sides of our lives.
